As of Oct. 21, FEMA has received a total of 773 applications.

- More than $1.1 million has been disbursed for housing assistance, which may include rental expenses, basic home repairs, or other essential disaster-related needs that are not covered by insurance.
- More than $2.1 million has been disbursed for Other Needs Assistance, which can include coverage for damaged personal property, such as household appliances, furniture and, in Alaska, subsistence equipment and tools, such as fishing equipment, cold weather gear, ATVs, boats, outboard motors, smoke house and snow mobiles.

FEMA has established an Alaska-specific disaster hotline staffed in Anchorage to process applications and answer questions. The number is 1-866-342-1699. Beginning Monday, Oct. 24, hours of operation will be 9. a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday-

Saturday and closed on Sundays (current hours are 10 AM – 8 PM Monday through Saturday.) TTY users dial 711 or, TTY users with an out-of-state area code, dial 800-770-8973 for Alaska relay service. Applications can also be submitted at www.disasterassistance.gov or via the FEMA app.

The State of Alaska also provides disaster assistance that is separate from FEMA's. In order to receive potential aid from the state, survivors must register with FEMA. If you are found ineligible for FEMA assistance, you may qualify for assistance through the State of Alaska. For example, FEMA may be able to cover damaged subsistence equipment and tools while the state may pay for the damaged structure. If you don't submit both applications, it is possible no assistance will be available to you.

Survivors can apply for disaster assistance from the State of Alaska by calling 1-844-445-7131 or going online at ready.alaska.gov/IA. The deadline for apply to the state is Nov. 17, 2022.

Some applicants may be referred to the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) to apply for a disaster loan. Long-term, low-interest disaster loans for homeowners, renters, businesses and nonprofits may be available to cover losses not fully compensated by insurance or other sources.

Homeowners and renters should submit an SBA disaster loan application even if they are not sure they will need or want a loan. If SBA cannot approve your application, in most cases SBA will refer you to FEMA's Other Needs Assistance program for possible additional assistance. If your application is approved, you are not obligated to accept an SBA loan but failure to return the application may disqualify you from other possible FEMA assistance.

Applicants may apply online using the Electronic Loan Application (ELA) via the SBA's secure website at disasterloanassistance.sba.gov/ela. Paper applications may be requested by calling the SBA Customer Service Center at 800-659-2955 (dial 711 for TTY) or by sending an e-mail to disastercustomerservice@sba.gov. The deadline to apply is Nov. 22, 2022
