

We Succeed or Fail Together

L. Vance Taylor

Chief, Office of Access and Functional Needs, California Governor's Office of Emergency Services

L. Vance Taylor is the Chief of the Office of Access and Functional Needs at the California Governor's Office of Emergency Services. He is responsible for ensuring the needs of individuals with disabilities and persons with access or functional needs are identified before, during, and after disasters and integrated into the State's emergency management systems.

Taylor was diagnosed with muscular dystrophy as a child and uses a power wheelchair. He has worked in Washington, D.C. as an advisor for two different members of Congress, directed security policy at a national water association, and been a principal at a top-ranked homeland security and emergency management consulting firm. Taylor is a nationally recognized public speaker and advocate for individuals with disabilities.

Taylor has a Master's degree in homeland security from the University of Connecticut and an undergraduate degree from Brigham Young University.