

Including Your Pets in Disaster Preparedness

Release Date: June 23, 2020

ST. CROIX, U.S. Virgin Islands – Pets are an important member of your household, remember to include them in your hurricane preparedness plans.

Here are some tips on disaster preparedness for pet owners:

- If a pet gets lost, its tag is its ticket home. Make sure your pet's tags are up-to-date and fastened to its collar. If possible, attach the address and/or phone number of another contact in case you can't be reached. A waterproof pouch containing identification information can be attached to the collar.
- Consider implanting a microchip with all of its information on it, beneath the pet's skin. A veterinarian or an animal shelter can perform the procedure, but the chip also has to be registered.
- In a waterproof bag or container, store important pet documentation, such as adoption papers, vaccination records, feeding schedules, notes about behavior issues and your veterinarian's contact information.
- Take a photo of you with your pet and put it in the waterproof container. In case you get separated, you can show what your pet looks like and you will also have proof that it is your pet when it's found.
- Have enough pet supplies, food, bottled water and medications for each pet for at least 10 days, including a manual can opener for canned food. Keep canned or dried food in airtight containers.

FEMA

Page 1 of 2

- Have sanitation items such as cat litter, litter box and scoop, trash bags, newspaper and paper towels. A checklist of items to include can be found online at <https://www.ready.gov/animals>.
- If you plan to shelter in place, identify the safest area of your home where you can all stay together. Put all emergency supplies in that room ahead of time, including your pet's crate and supplies.
- A pet may require a personal carrier or cage, which should be big enough for it to stand and move around in.
- Pet birds, fish, reptiles and amphibians have additional care needs. Assemble their supplies in your survival kit and plan ahead how you will shelter in place or evacuate, such as assuring you have cages for transporting them and any special equipment they may need.

For more tips on how to prepare your family for a disaster, visit www.ready.gov.

###

FEMA's mission is helping people before, during and after a disaster.

Follow us on social media at twitter.com/femaregion2 and www.facebook.com/FEMAUSVirginIslands

FEMA

Page 2 of 2