Flood Insurance Protects You All Year Long, Not Only During Monsoon Season

Monsoon Season is Here

Monsoon season occurs around the same time each year, but the threat of flooding occurs every day, all year long. Flooding is the most common natural disaster and is typically not covered by homeowners or renters insurance. It is important to have protection from the flooding associated with the ongoing wildfires, heavy rains, and other conditions that directly impact New Mexico. Having flood insurance is the best way to be prepared for inevitable disasters.

Flooding can happen to anyone, anywhere. It doesn’t just affect those who live near a body of water and can even occur outside high-risk flood areas. Flood insurance from the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP) protects you from the financial devastation caused by floods. Just one inch of water can cause $25,000 in damage.

There is usually a 30-day waiting period after applying and paying the premium before the flood insurance policy becomes effective. However, there is no waiting period when flood insurance is required by a lender. Lenders may require flood insurance for a new loan, when a loan amount is increased or extended, or after a mortgage portfolio review shows that the building is in a high-risk area.

Financially Protect Your Property

Buy or renew your policy now to be financially protected and ready for floods.

Policies for homeowners can carry coverage of up to $250,000 for the structure and up to $100,000 for building contents.

Non-residential property owners can insure a structure for up to $500,000 and its contents for up to $500,000.

Renters can cover contents up to $100,000.
Flood insurance can also help with your recovery regardless of whether there is a presidential disaster declaration. Residents should not rely on federal disaster assistance after a flood, since not every event is declared a federal disaster, and assistance is intended to help pay for basic needs and costs to assist in making your home safe to occupy. Flood insurance can help get you closer to your pre-disaster condition.
