

Two Weeks Left to Apply for FEMA Disaster Assistance

Release Date: October 27, 2023

HONOLULU – Two weeks are left for homeowners and renters to apply for FEMA disaster assistance if you had damage or losses to your property from the Aug. 8 wildfires on Maui. You may also apply for a disaster loan from the U.S. Small Business Administration, a FEMA partner in Maui's recovery.

The deadline to apply is Thursday, Nov. 9, for both federal agencies. Recovery programs require that you register for FEMA disaster assistance before you can be considered for those programs, so it's important to sign up soon.

Disaster survivors are encouraged to file insurance claims for damage or losses to their primary homes, personal property and vehicles before applying for FEMA assistance. FEMA grants do not have to be repaid and FEMA assistance is nontaxable and will not affect eligibility for Social Security, Medicaid or other federal benefits.

The American Red Cross has played a prominent role in the response to the Maui wildfires. The Red Cross is providing financial assistance, temporary housing in hotels and other services, including assisting survivors who are not eligible for some FEMA programs. You may schedule an appointment at RedCross.org/HIhelp, speak to a Red Cross representative at a Disaster Recovery Center or call 800-RED-CROSS (800-733-2767).

FEMA's Individual Assistance program is designed to help you with basic, critical needs such as a safe, sanitary and accessible place to live. Assistance includes rental assistance, lodging expenses reimbursement, and home repair and replacement assistance.
