SANTA FE, NM -- The State of New Mexico Disaster Case Management Team and the Hermit's Peak/Calf Canyon Claims Office Advocate Team will host an Advocate Resource Fair in Mora on Feb. 17. The fair is open to everyone; however, it is specifically designed for people affected by the Hermit's Peak/Calf Canyon Fire and subsequent flooding. The fair runs from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Ledoux Volunteer Fire Dept.

The resource fair will provide an opportunity for those impacted by the fire to meet one-on-one with case management personnel and the advocate team. The fair makes it convenient to learn about the claims process and get help on a specific claim.

Here's what you can expect when visiting the resource fair:

- State Disaster Case Managers (DCMs) will be on hand to provide information on local, state and federal programs that are available to people and how DCMs can support them in choosing and applying for programs to support their recovery needs.
- Claims Office Advocate Team will provide support, address concerns and advocate on your behalf.
- The Natural Resources Conservation Service, US Forest Service, and Tierra y Montes Soil and Water Conservation District will address burn severity maps and available resources.
