

Use FEMA Grants for Intended Purpose

Release Date: August 9, 2024

OKLAHOMA CITY – FEMA assistance can help pay for essential expenses due to the April-May severe storms, straight-line winds, tornadoes and flooding. When you receive a grant, FEMA will send you a letter that describes what the money can cover.

You should only use your grant for the expenses listed in your letter, which may include:

- Home repair or replacement
- Rent for temporary housing while you are displaced
- Essential appliances, room furnishings, and a personal or family computer damaged by the disaster
- Books, uniforms, tools, computers and other items required for school or work, including self-employment
- Repair or replacement of a primary vehicle
- Medical expenses, childcare and moving and storage expenses
- Lifesaving and life-sustaining items, including water, food, first aid, prescriptions, infant formula, breastfeeding supplies, diapers, medical supplies and equipment, personal hygiene items and fuel for transportation
- Other uninsured disaster-related expenses

If you have questions about what's eligible, call the FEMA Helpline at 800-621-3362.

Keep receipts of your disaster spending for three years. This will help you document how the money was used in case of an audit.

If you spend your grant on anything other than its purpose, FEMA will ask you to return it, and you may be ineligible for assistance in future disasters.
