

The Hermit's Peak/Calf Canyon Claims Office Reminds Individuals to Protect their Personal and Financial Information to Avoid Fraud

Release Date: August 28, 2024

SANTA FE, N.M. - The FEMA Hermit's Peak/Calf Canyon Claims Office ("Claims Office") reminds individuals to be vigilant in protecting personal and financial information throughout the claims process. Bad actors may attempt to engage in fraudulent activity to gain access to claimant information and data. The Claims Office follows strict data management and security protocols when interacting with claimants and handling sensitive claimant information.

"We strongly encourage all claimants to be vigilant in protecting themselves and their personal and financial information," says Jay Mitchell, Director of Operations for the New Mexico Joint Recovery Office. "Individuals supporting claimants, from lawyers to Claims Office employees, will always be able to provide identification and will never request payment for services or request personal or financial information without providing identity verification."

If you receive a call, text, email, or in-person visit from someone claiming to work at the Claims Office or FEMA who is requesting personal and/or financial information, or if you have any suspicion of fraud, please do the following:

- Call the Claims Office Helpline: 505-995-7133.
- Call your claims navigator.
- Request email verification from the individual contacting you. Their email address should end in: @FEMA.dhs.gov.

Claimants and community members are advised to keep close hold of personal or financial information.
