

April 28, is the last day for West Virginians to apply for FEMA assistance

Release Date: April 25, 2025

Monday, April 28, is the last day for West Virginians to apply for FEMA assistance

CHARLESTON, W.Va. – The deadline for West Virginians to apply for FEMA assistance is this Monday, April 28. If you are a resident of Logan, McDowell, Mercer, Mingo, Raleigh, Wayne, or Wyoming counties and had damage to your home or personal property due to the February storms, FEMA encourages you to submit an application by Monday.

If you have already applied for assistance, encourage your friends, family, and neighbors to apply. If you have questions about your application or a FEMA determination letter, please get in touch.

Survivors can apply for assistance, ask questions about their application, or receive help submitting an appeal by:

- Calling the FEMA Helpline at 800-621-3362,
- Visiting DisasterAssistance.gov.
- Downloading and using the FEMA App,
- Visiting a Disaster Recovery Center \(DRC\).

Disaster Recovery Centers remain open in McDowell, Mingo, Raleigh, and Wyoming counties. You can visit a center to talk face-to-face with FEMA staff, apply for assistance, check the status of your application, and learn about recovery resources.
