Preliminary Damage Assessment Report

Native Village of Kivalina – Severe Storms, Flooding, and Persistent Erosion Denial

Denied on February 1, 2017

On January 15, 2017, the Native Village of Kivalina IRA Council President Millie Hawley requested a major disaster declaration due to severe storms, flooding, and persistent erosion for an ongoing incident period. President Hawley requested Public Assistance (Categories C-G) and Hazard Mitigation for the Native Village of Kivalina. President Hawley's request did not identify damage to any facilities that are eligible for assistance under the Stafford Act. Therefore, joint federal, state, tribal, or local government Preliminary Damage Assessments (PDAs) were not conducted. PDAs estimate damages immediately after an event and are considered, along with several other factors, in determining whether a disaster is of such severity and magnitude that effective response is beyond the capabilities of the tribe and the affected local governments, and that Federal assistance is necessary.¹

On February 1, 2017, President Hawley's request for a major disaster declaration was denied based on the determination that a declaration under the Stafford Act is not appropriate to address the situation.²

¹ The Preliminary Damage Assessment (PDA) process is a mechanism used to determine the impact and magnitude of damage and resulting needs of individuals, businesses, public sector, and community as a whole. Information collected is used by the State as a basis for the Governor's request for a major disaster or emergency declaration, and by the President in determining a response to the Governor's request (44 CFR § 206.33).

- Destroyed total loss of structure, structure is not economically feasible to repair, or complete failure to major structural components (e.g., collapse of basement walls/foundation, walls or roof);
- Major Damage substantial failure to structural elements of residence (e.g., walls, floors, foundation), or damage that will take more than 30 days to repair;
- Minor Damage home is damaged and uninhabitable, but may be made habitable in short period of time with repairs; and
- o Affected some damage to the structure and contents, but still habitable.
- ⁴ By law, Federal disaster assistance cannot duplicate insurance coverage. 42 U.S.C. § 5155 and 44 C.F.R. § 206.48(b)(5).
- ⁵ Special populations, such as low-income, the elderly, or the unemployed may indicate a greater need for assistance. 44 C.F.R. § 206.48(b)(3).
- ⁶ Ibid. 44 C.F.R. § 206.48(b)(3).
- ⁷ Based on State population in the 2010 Census.
- 8 Statewide Per Capita Impact Indicator for FY17, Federal Register, October 1, 2016.

² When a Governor's request for major disaster assistance under the Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act, as amended (Stafford Act) is under review, a number of primary factors are considered to determine whether assistance is warranted. These factors are outlined in FEMA's regulations (44 CFR § 206.48). The President has ultimate discretion and decision making authority to declare major disasters and emergencies under the Stafford Act (42 U.S.C. § 5170 and § 5191).
