

Preliminary Damage Assessment Report

Mississippi – Severe Storms, Tornadoes, Straight-line Winds, and Flooding FEMA-4536-DR

Declared April 16, 2020

On April 14, 2020, Governor Tate Reeves requested an expedited major disaster declaration due to severe storms, tornadoes, straight-line winds, and flooding on April 12, 2020. The Governor requested a declaration for Individual Assistance for three counties; assistance for debris removal and emergency protective measures (Categories A and B), including direct Federal assistance, under the Public Assistance program for three counties; and Hazard Mitigation statewide. This event was of the severity and magnitude that the need for supplemental Federal assistance was determined to be necessary prior to the completion of joint federal, state, and local government Preliminary Damage Assessments (PDAs). Per 44 CFR § 206.33 (d) and § 206.36 (d), the requirement for a joint PDA may be waived for those incidents of such unusual severity and magnitude that formal field damage assessments are not required to establish the need for supplemental Federal assistance under the Stafford Act.¹

On April 16, 2020, President Trump declared that a major disaster exists in the State of Mississippi. This declaration made Individual Assistance requested by the Governor available to affected individuals and households in Covington, Jefferson Davis, and Jones Counties. This declaration also made debris removal and emergency protective measures (Categories A and B), including direct Federal assistance, under the Public Assistance program requested by the Governor available to state and eligible local governments and certain private nonprofit organizations on a cost-sharing basis for emergency work in Covington, Jefferson Davis, and Jones Counties. Finally, this declaration made Hazard Mitigation Grant Program assistance requested by the Governor available for hazard mitigation measures statewide.²

² When a Governor’s request for major disaster assistance under the Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act, as amended (Stafford Act) is under review, a number of primary factors are considered to determine whether assistance is warranted. These factors are outlined in FEMA’s regulations (44 CFR § 206.48). The President has ultimate discretion and decision making authority to declare major disasters and emergencies under the Stafford Act (42 U.S.C. § 5170 and § 5191).

³ Degree of damage to impacted residences:

- Destroyed – total loss of structure, structure is not economically feasible to repair, or complete failure to major structural components (e.g., collapse of basement walls/foundation, walls or roof);
- Major Damage – substantial failure to structural elements of residence (e.g., walls, floors, foundation), or damage that will take more than 30 days to repair;
- Minor Damage – home is damaged and uninhabitable, but may be made habitable in short period of time with repairs; and
- Affected – some damage to the structure and contents, but still habitable.

⁴ By law, Federal disaster assistance cannot duplicate insurance coverage. 42 U.S.C. § 5155 and 44 C.F.R. § 206.48(b)(5).

⁵ Special populations, such as low-income, the elderly, or the unemployed may indicate a greater need for assistance. 44 C.F.R. § 206.48(b)(3).

⁶ Ibid. 44 C.F.R. § 206.48(b)(3).
