

Social Capital in Disaster Mitigation and Recovery

Dr. Daniel Aldrich

Professor of Political Science,
Public Policy and Urban Affairs

Director, Masters Program in Security and Resilience,
Northeastern University

Daniel Aldrich is professor and director of the Security and Resilience Program at Northeastern University in Boston, MA. He has published four books, more than forty peer reviewed articles, and written op-eds for The New York Times, CNN, Asahi Shinbun, along with appearing on popular media outlets such as CNBC, MSNBC, NPR, and HuffPost. He has a PhD in political science from Harvard and his research has been funded by the Fulbright Foundation, the Abe Foundation, and the National Science Foundation. Aldrich has carried out more than five years of fieldwork in Japan, India, Africa, and the Gulf Coast. His newest book, Black Wave: Connections and Governance in Japan's 3/11 Disasters, is currently under review.